I had the pleasure of presenting with Anne Moss at a national conference and she received a standing ovation... I have been to this pediatric conference for two decades and I have never seen any speaker receive a standing ovation. She was powerful. She was moving.

Bio

Anne Moss is her first name. It's a Southern Rogers thing. She is an author and an Emotionally Naked® mental health and suicide prevention speaker, trainer and storyteller who educates and helps audiences find hope, healing and purpose. The author of two books, she has been featured in the New York Times and was first non-clinician invited to speak at the National Institute of Mental Health on youth suicide.

Despite her family's best efforts, her 20-year-old son, Charles, died by suicide June 5, 2015, after many years of struggle with anxiety, depression and addiction.

Audiences: educators, employees and managers, youth, parents, clinicians, state agencies

Testimonials

“Anne Moss Rogers tells her tragedy and healing with passion and love. She relates to young people in a very unique and powerful way that few adults can. Her message is critical to all, particularly the teenage population. We are extremely grateful for her.”
--Cassie Rogers, Health Science Specialty Center Coordinator, Cosby High School

“I’m proud of the Company for prioritizing mental health initiatives and enabling employees to attend. It helps our workplace as well as our communities to provide education and tools to DE employees.”

--Dominion Energy Employee

“This has really been amazing!!!! one of the best trainings ive had so far....”

--Jennifer Kester, Social Work Student, Pennsylvania

“The speaker was able to pour out so much valuable and helpful information because of her own experience. I learned so much, particularly about being a good listener, being aware of possible signs of a troubled person who may be suicidal. I feel more comfortable letting a person know that I care and ask the important question to help them get help!”

--Dominion Energy Employee

“I saw you speak this morning at the NIMH suicide conference, and it was one of the beautiful, raw speeches I have ever witnessed. You were so vulnerable and open and articulate about you and Charles' experiences. Your comment about connectedness, and the lack of it in our current age of social media and technological advances was brilliant. I am truly inspired by you.”

--J.S., Research Assistant, National Institute of Mental Health

“This presentation was fantastic. Holding more of these presentations will help break the stigma of mental illness and promote engaging, transparent conversation.”

--Markel Insurance Employee

“Your presentation was absolutely mesmerizing. It was very factual and for the physicians in the audience, it was an eye-opening experience. We look forward to reading your book.”

--K. Singh Sahni, M.D., FACS, Neurosurgeon, Chair of Neuroscience JW Hospital

but every single word that you said in that classroom that day touched my life. You helped me to wanna keep pushing and strive to even be half as strong as you are. So thank you Mrs. Rogers, thank you so much for sharing your story, and helping me in ways I can't even begin to truly explain.

--15-year-old high school student

Vicki Hutman, CS ICC to Everyone

Wow! Thank you so much! Best speaker on this subject that I have ever heard in 20 years in the "business".
